Rules:

- The contest director will select an individual who can clearly and accurately pronounce each of the words on the spelling list.
- The caller will call the contestant's number and pronounce the word the contestant is requested to spell. A panel of three (3) judges will signal an incorrect spelling by ringing a bell or other method determined by spelling bee director.
- In the first ten (10) rounds, a contestant will have two (2) chances to spell the word before the caller moves to the next contestant. Beginning with the 11th round, contestants will have one chance to spell a word correctly before the caller moves on to the next word or contestant. The number of rounds may be changed at the discretion of the contest director. For ten (10) rounds or less, the two (2) chances to spell a word will end after the fifth (5th) round.
- The contestant may ask for the word to be said a second time, may ask for the word to be used in a sentence, or may ask for the word to be identified by origin.
- No talking or coaching may be done while the contestants are on the stage or in the room where the contest is held.
- Contestants, friends, and family members are expected to be courteous and considerate of other contestants.
- No word lists, charts, books, or other props will be allowed in the contest area.
- Each contestant should enlist the aid of a youth advisor, family member, teacher, or friend to act as your spelling coach to help you.
- The age-appropriate list will be used until all of the words have been used. Thereafter, words may be used from a different word list to lead to elimination of contestants and determine a winner.
